

Cleaning a hand held egg stamper

The quality of an egg stamp imprint will be deteriorate if there is a build up of dust on the stamping surface.

If you experience this problem.

The best way to clean the egg stamp is to use kitchen paper, wet it with water and try to take off the crusted ink, best to dab rather than rub. If the crust is hard it can damage the surface of the stamp. Window cleaner is also recommended. If that is not enough, rubbing alcohol can be tried but don't use much because it can eat into the material and results in a weaker image. If the eggs are quite dusty it will be good prior to stamping, to clean the surface of the eggs either with a paper towel, an airbrush or just a light brush.
